--IMAGE FORMING DEVICES AND IMAGE FORMING METHODS--.

In the Specification

Amend the paragraph beginning on page 9 at line 3 as follows:

If dynamic application 40 is to be removed from image forming device 6, such can be implemented by various methods. For example, power cycling of device 6 removes applications from volatile memory, such as RAM. Available features associated with nonvolatile components (e.g., hard [[of]] or floppy disk) are utilized to remove applications from such nonvolatile components. Alternatively, nonmanageable components which include applications may be unplugged from device 6.
